The SPECTRE

By CERF ANDSAND

It could only happen in Carmel: A young lady called Janet Gilmore was strolling down Casanova the other night, when she heard what she thought was a sheep baa-ing. She was almost right. It was a goat, being pursued by a belligerent dog. Her humanitarian instincts aroused, Miss Gilmore took it to the residence of John Clancy on Casanova. The police were notified and the goat's owner, Lloyd Cogley, was requested to come and pick up his property. The animal was booked thusly: "Goat, kid, female, white," etc., etc. At 8:06 of the evening, headquarters received another call from Mr. Clancy. The report said: ... "Cogley had not yet gotten his goat, which was getting Clancey's goat, as the goat was eating a bridge lamp cord..." Almost sounds like a song title: "Getting Clancy's Goat." Or, let's see, was it Clancy's goat or Cogley's goat?

Seen at the Mission Ranch Monday night were Donald Teague, magazine artist, and Mrs. Teague, and Cartoonist Hank Ketcham and his wife. They were entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chessman. Mr. Chessman, art director for Colliers Magazine, is seeing the West Coast for the first time.

If I ever get this spelled... Ah!... Bicyclists (tough word) are cautioned once more that the city requires a license for each machine. They are only two bits and are available at the Police Department, Mission and Seventh.

Shocking as the recent Carmel rape case was to local people, the police think it will, at least, get Carmelites to start locking their doors ...

MAYOR GODWIN SIGNS PROCLAMATION TO LAUNCH CANCER DRIVE

Mayor Fred Godwin this week called on Carmel citizens to give "their generous support" to the 1950 educational and fund-raising drive of the American Cancer Society.

In a proclamation signed today, he said the American Cancer Society is taking the lead in reducing the cancer death rate through its three-fold program of research, education and service. Mayor William Chapman, of Pacific Grove, and Mayor Les K. Smith, of Monterey, issued the same proclamation, as did other municipal chiefs in other Monterey County cities.

The annual drive takes place during the month of April. Niles Pease is campaign chairman in Monterey County.

The Monterey Peninsula Drive will be handled by the 20 - 30 Club under the chairmanship of Cliff Johansen.

Mayor Godwin declared Carmel "shares the deep concern of California and the United States over the large number of deaths caused by cancer."

He pointed out that more than 14,000 Californians died of cancer in 1949.

One-third of these deaths could have been prevented by early detection and prompt and proper treatment, he said.

Mayor Godwin pointed to the broad educational program carried on by ACS to help the general public recognize the danger signals of cancer in its early stages when it is most easily cured.

He commended research projects financed by the Society, many of them in California universities, which are attempting to learn the causes and cure for cancer.

Congressman E. K. Ernie Bramblett, representative from this district, has filed his candidacy for reelection at Salinas.

Keep your head out of the sand!

This editorial was attempted only after the writer had sat himself down to read 25 short articles prepared by the American Cancer Society, which holds its 1950 Cancer Crusade throughout the month of April. The 25 articles were sobering, a bit frightening, and, consequently, difficult to continue reading.

So many times we hear of people who admit they can't read a magazine article on cancer or other dangerous diseases. A list of cancer symptoms often sounds too familiar to the person who reads it; he would rather not hear about them.

Unfortunately, it is just this head-in-the-sand attitude that can kill you.

The minimum national goal in this year's drive for funds to fight cancer has been set at $14,565,000. Of this, only $10,300 is asked from the people of Monterey County - a small sum when we know that cancer kills 200,000 persons yearly.

In reading one of the ACS articles, the writer was startled to learn that, of those 200,000 lives, "ONE THIRD COULD AND SHOULD HAVE BEEN SAVED BY EARLY DIAGNOSIS AND PROMPT, PROPER TREATMENT."

What does this mean to the individual? Just this: Knowledge of cancer symptoms, plus frequent medical check-ups, can save your life.

The one-third who could have been saved last year would be living today through treatments that now exist. As new methods of discovering and controlling cancer are developed, the frightening and famous "one out of eight will die" slogan will eventually have to find a more comforting ratio.

The funds you contribute will almost surely be earmarked for saving someone you know, for one out of five persons now living will have cancer. This ratio almost cuts it down to the family circle.

About 67,000 Americans are being cured of cancer yearly, but an equal number could be saved if enough people learn the cancer danger signals and see their doctors promptly when the cancer symptoms appear. To get people to understand this, calls for generous financial aid.

Following is a list of danger signals. Read them, for they might save your life.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

To quote one of the ACS articles again: "Strike back: Give to Conquer Cancer."

Swing Toward Republicans Seen Within Last Month | Trend Result of McCarthy Charges, Acheson 'Boners'

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—Top political experts report a sharp swing toward the Republicans within the last month as the 1950 congressional campaigns approach with Communism a major issue.

Until the start of the investigation by a Senate subcommittee of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's Communists-in-the-State department charges and Secretary of State Dean Acheson's "major blunders" the Democrats were more than holding their own.

State Secretary Dean Acheson

The Acheson "major blunders," incidentally, are GOP campaign language used to describe the secretary's reaffirmation of friendship for convicted perjurer Alger Hiss and his handling of the Gubitchev affair.

GOP attacks on Acheson, Democratic silence, and now the swiftly-jelling, somewhat "wild" McCarthy charges are bearing fruit for the Republicans.

The GOP leaders are setting the stage for a slam-bang campaign on which the Communist issue will be a main point for arguing that it is time to put Congress back under GOP control. President Truman is expected to study answers to the Republican charges while in Florida preparing to play an active part in the campaign.

* * * *

● NEW BERLIN TENSION—Look for a new crisis to develop late in May over the dynamite-laden Berlin situation.

Defense department officials in Washington privately express serious concern over plans of Communist followers to stage a "march" on the former German capital in May. Communist leaders have told their followers that after the "march" by upward of 500,000 Reds, Berlin "will be ours."

United States High Commissioner for Germany John J. McCloy discussed this situation with top government officials during his recent visit to Washington.

Whether the Communists will go ahead with their plans remains to be seen, but United States officials say emphatically that the United States is in Berlin to stay.

No Red-led demonstration is going to drive the Americans from the German city, but, of course, the situation will be handled as diplomatically as possible.

* * * *

● "TOOTHLESS" DRAFT—Enactment of a "toothless" draft law appears assured at this session of Congress.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D), Georgia, of the House armed services committee, says it doesn't meet with President Truman's approval but it is the best that Congress is willing to approve at this time.

Vinson predicts his committee will approve a three-year extension of the Selective Service System, which would be given the authority to register and classify men aged 18 to 26.

However, draft authorities would be clipped of their power to induct men and that authority would be retained by Congress, subject to the enactment of a new law specifically permitting inductions in the event of an emergency.

* * * *

● ANTI-SPY LAW—Look for Senate approval of the House-passed measure to tighten the nation's laws against espionage, sabotage and other subversive activities.

See Little Opposition To Bill

The proposal has been referred to the Senate judiciary committee and members of that group say privately they have found very little opposition to the far-reaching legislation.

Time is the only factor against enactment of the bill. The Senate has a crowded schedule and will have to act quickly to get the anti-spy bill approved before Congress adjourns.

The legislation has been recommended by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover who said there are several loopholes in the present law which prevent prosecution for many subversive activities.

CARMEL CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE

MRS. GLENN CLAIRMONTE

(This is the fourth of five articles on the background, aims and personalities of candidates for election to the Carmel City Council on the April 11 ballot. Watch for them each week. -- Editor.)

By Bill Martin

Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte, writer and literary instructor, is the first woman to run for the Carmel City Council since 1942, and she feels that women should take their share in protecting Carmel ideals. Perhaps even more important, no other artist or writer has made himself available to the city, she said.

"It was the literary and art group which first built the fame of Carmel. This element ought to continue the long-range work of holding Carmel firm against temporary issues," she stated.

Born in New York City in 1896, Mrs. Clairmonte wanted to move to California in 1915, following her graduation from high school; instead, she became an editorial assistant to the famous S. S. McClure, editor of McClure's Magazine. At this time she did the historical research for his 1917 publication, Obstacles to Peace. Mrs. Clairmonte then sailed for France and, at the age of 19, was the only girl with the Navy there. With an office of her own and her name on the door, she was personal aide to Admiral Craven, commander of U.S. Naval Aviation in France. In this capacity she compiled the history of that service, a tremendous volume with statistical charts showing the number of bombs our planes dropped on bubbles in the sea, and so forth.

Upon returning to the United States, she realized a lifelong dream by promptly pulling out for California. In 1919, she entered the University of California with "just $1.25 to my name." Mrs. Clairmonte worked her way through school, graduating three and one-half years later with a prize for poetry and membership in Alpha Pi Zeta and Pi Delta Phi. Her major was political science.

Her first visit to Carmel was in 1923 between examination day and graduation.

"You know the old story of love-at-first-sight," she said, "because it has happened to everyone who has ever come to Carmel."

Mrs. Clairmonte has been living in the village since 1944, in a tiny hut overlooking the ocean. "There is nothing I would not do for Carmel," she avows.

For the past four and one-half years she has been conducting the current literature group, inveigling some of the more brilliant writers and scholars who live on the peninsula to speak on their special interests. Mrs. Clairmonte also conducts the short story workshop of the Carmel Adult School, which is attended by an average of about 50 persons each Thursday night at Sunset School. Speakers have included such writers as Martin Flavin, Dan Totheroh and Recluse Henry Miller, of Big Sur, who drew an audience of 210 persons in what he called his "first and last public appearance."

In order to earn a living, Mrs. Clairmonte criticizes manuscripts, writes newspaper articles (she is a feature writer for the San Francisco Examiner), sells articles on psychology, writes advertising copy and radio commercials, does legal stenography and many other types of work related to writing. She has had two books of poetry published and her work has appeared in many of the little literary magazines all over the United States. Her by-line is familiar to readers of The SPECTATOR, Monterey Peninsula Herald and Carmel Pine Cone.

Her free-lance writing assignments have given her, she feels, a breadth of acquaintance with local conditions - and that is the reason she holds herself ready to serve on the Carmel City Council.

Not an old-time Carmelite, although she has loved the village for years, Mrs. Clairmonte thinks many people appreciate it most who have lived elsewhere.

"No one can really appreciate Carmel civilization until he knows what it is to be without it," she declares. "A state if mind such as one finds in Carmel does not just 'happen'; it grows from the ideas which inspired it."

It is these "ideas" that Mrs. Clairmonte would strive to uphold if elected to the City Council.

Britain's House of Commons, we learn, has 625 members but seats for only 400. Just another country with a surplus of government?

Yunga (Call me Rex) von Schwarenburg is the proudest "dogface" at Fort Ord this week. Yunga, shown above with his master, Sgt. Robert Holcomb, Area Veterinary Detachment, who trained him, is a two year old German shorthaired pointer. He took second honors in his class in the all-age field trials of the Salinas Valley Sporting Dog Association last week. Barely out of puppyhood and the only soldier-owned entry, Yunga bested eight older dogs in "pointing" live pheasant, also acquiring near-perfect scores in obedience, handling of birds, steadiness on shot and "way of going." Raised in Sergeant Holcomb's home in Poulsbo, Washington, Yunga is the son of a thoroughbred pointer Holcomb brought from Germany following the war. He is now being groomed for other field trial conquests. U.S. ARMY Photo.

$800,000 SEWAGE PLANT BOND TO GO ON MONTEREY BALLOT

Meeting at noon Tuesday, the the Monterey City Council passed the necessary resolutions to place a bond issue on the June 6 ballot for Monterey voters.

They will be asked to approve an $800,000 bond issue for construction of a sewage disposal plant.

The council earlier this month passed resolutions approving signing of a lease on land at the Navy General Line School, as the sewage disposal site. Several years ago, the State Department of Health notified California cities that the practice of dumping sewage into the ocean must cease.

Pacific Grove, Monterey and Seaside all have hired H. M. Jenks, consulting sanitary engineer, of Palo Alto, to recommend action on sewage disposal.

Pacific Grove will acquire a site on the Coast Guard Reservation at Point Pinos.

Seaside probably will have a bond election before summer to finance their sewage system. Many observers, however, believe such an election would fail to get the necessary two-thirds majority of the vote.

Seaside last year rejected a proposal for home-rule with a Sanitary District operated by local men. Instead, they voted early this year to empower the Monterey County Board of Supervisors to operate their district.

You might be interested to know that the couturiers, in Paris, are divided into two categories: the highly publicized, expensive houses that you have read much about, whose main trade is with foreign buyers and wealthy tourists; and the smaller houses patronized by the smartest French women. The second group shows smaller collections, but the models are more studied and more acceptable, because they are generally less extreme. These houses are little known in the United States, because buyers do not have time to see everything in the two weeks or so they spend in Paris.

CHARLES MONTAIGNE: Under the two emphases of youth and femininity, his collection reacts against any mannish tendency. The waist-line, well defined, is emphasized by a wide, shaped belt called "the cheater." Many blouse-ed backs and kimono sleeves give a charming fullness to the bust. Classic suits are shown with white pique vests. Many two-piece dresses have finely pleated skirts.

MANQUIN: His collection ignores anything that hampers ... The tubular skirts are eased and given fullness by concealed pleats and panels. The coats are generally straight, and their cut and details studied and very refined. The original feature in the suits are the skirts, the numerous vests and the Windsor ties.

RAPHAEL also emphasizes vests ... They are made of pique, felt, suede or faille - and always in pastel shades. Bow ties as well as Windsor ties achieve the effect. Narrow skirts with bloused backs, pleated and flaring skirts with "surah" blouses, maintain the feminine emphasis in his collection.

WORTH presents his new ligne: "MUSHROOM." The "Mushroom" silhouette is, by a judicious use of pleats, graciously narrow, with its supple waistline, V neck and well shaped shoulders. The suits, always with a classical note, are, however, somewhat fancy: a gray suit has lapels made of plaid ; a yellow one has a grey cape. Another is trimmed with tassels on the pockets and lapels. Two or three are edged with braided cord. The coats are straight, generally without buttons or collar, so as to set off the stretching of the lapels.

WORTH

In general, the new trends are supple-busted, with slightly lower waist-lines, concealed fullness of the skirts, white ornaments: vests, bows and collars; light fabrics: muslin, "tussors," organdi and shantungs. The new shades are lemon, reddish-orange, tomato red, bright blue, navy blue, parme and grey.

For you who show interest in French recipes, here is one especially appropriate for Lent. This recipe is approximately enough for five.

Take a large eggplant, slice thin, with or without the skin. Put in large skillet and warm oil - medium heat. While this is cooking, slice four green peppers and five tomatoes; add to eggplant. Season to taste with salt, pepper, garlic and chopped parsley. Cover and stir from time to time. Let it cook about one hour. Don't worry if you cannot get all of it at the same time for it reduces a lot.

This is called: "RATATOUILLE PROVENCALE" and is generally served with masked potatoes and eggs. Put the mashed potatoes in a baking-dish, make a hollow with a spoon for each egg, crack the eggs into each hollow . . . Put into the oven until golden brown.

Wife Preservers

When you are planning to whip cream, put all utensils in refrigerator for a time to chill thoroughly—bowl and beater or beaters. Pour chilled cream into bowl, add a pinch of salt, then beat with chilled beater. The cream will whip to desired stiffness in short order.

His Majesty, Mr. A. von Ceares III, is looking for a new home somewhere on the Monterey Peninsula. His present owner is more interested in finding the right home for Ceares (pronounced Series) than a high price, as he parts with the dog only through necessity. The above photo was taken when Ceares was eight months old. He is now 13 months old and weighs 125 pounds. Other statistics: He has a sunny disposition and is well trained; likes children. He is registered with the American Kennel Club with a background of a dozen grand champions. Last year in the Pebble Beach Dog Show, he took first ribbons, local and open, and his health is perfect, as he was raised in a radiant heated kennel. Ceares will go only to the right family and his kennel and wire fence go with him. Call 7-3137 or 5-4682.

Spring is officially with us on the peninsula, but the warmth and beauty of the days convince us even more than the calendar's date... Speaking of dates - you have one ... the shops are just bursting with new stock and are waiting for your earliest shopping sojourn to town.

When you are feeling like a mid-day snack the DO-NUT-DEN's new idea will hit the spot. For your enjoyment, Bill has Johansen's Dairyland Ice Cream ... to take out or have there ... in a variety of ways. At first thought, a Do-Nut-Sundae may not appeal to you - but, take it from one who has tried it -- it is delicious. Have you ever longed for a chocolate sundae with chocolate so thick it's like dfudge? You'll discover the DO-NUT-DEN, on Mission between 5th and 6th, Carmel, is the only place in town that has it.

As Arthur Godfrey says, "Once you try frozen, fresh orange juice you will never fuss with the old way of slicing and squeezing for that sought-after glass of juice." KIP'S FOOD CENTER has installed a freezer just for frozen juice - for your convenience ... Speaking of convenience, KIP'S service and friendliness have supremacy. Their hours are planned for you alone. You need never worry about not being able to get those last minute items. KIP'S is open seven days a week - holidays, too. AUXILIARY MEETS

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. James' Episcopal Church, Monterey, met last week at the home of Mrs. Ian Campbell in Monterey.

At this second meeting of the month the auxiliary worked on the project they have undertaken for the month. The Lenten work is sewing of clothing, both children's and adults', for Episcopal Missions in Tokyo, Nevada and Arizona.

During the business period, plans were completed for a rummage sale to be held April 18 and 19, with Mrs. R. F. Peace, of Pacific Grove, as chairman.

This was followed by refreshments, during which Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, of Carmel, read from C. S. Lewis' "Screwtape Letters."

Read Poetry to Children

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

A MOTHER writes of her daughter 5½, "She loves poetry, even my books which I read to her when I haven't anything else. She calls it 'music that you talk.'"

It's the music of nursery rhymes that have made babies and little children love to hear them from time immemorial. The wise mother repeats nursery rhymes to her infant as she bathes and dresses him, even during his early months. She keeps on saying these rhymes, and she makes them jingle. Early in his second year he may beg her to repeat some of them. Those he has so often heard as "music that you talk" he is most eager to hear while he looks at beautiful pictures in a book which illustrate them; he is prepared to enjoy being read to. He also may soon be saying some of these rhymes or making up some rhymes of nonsense syllables himself. His mother should not, however, urge him to do so. (My bulletin, "Books from Which To Read to the Baby and Young Child," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

Musical Poetry

Before this child is two or three years old he may enjoy hearing some of the poems of Robert Louis Stevenson, A. A. Milne, James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field or even such musical poetry as Poe's "Bells." Before he enters school he may begin to like some "music that you talk" from Scott, Burns, Shelley, or Longfellow, even if he doesn't understand them. So also he enjoys prose, from the Bible.

Let us keep on reading poetry to the child long after he enters school and encourage him when he can read to read poetry aloud. If we are good listeners then we can further his enjoyment of poetry. It is grand when our children read poetry with us for enjoyment. Perhaps very few persons greatly enjoy poetry, who have not heard many poems read or who rarely or never read poetry aloud themselves.

Saying Poems

Thus enjoying poetry with the child we and he may have great fun saying some poems together from memory. We wish that teachers in the early elementary grades would more often inspire children to memorize many lovely short poems. When such poems are read aloud in the classroom, sometimes in concert, many children learn some of these poems incidentally, and many others will choose to memorize them. Fortunately some concert reading and reciting of poetry is coming back to school under the guise of "choral reading." In this practice there is emphasis on rhythm, and children come to think of poetry more and more as "music that you talk."

ELEVEN VACANCIES IN LOCAL QUOTA FOR SCOUT JAMBOREE

Eleven openings are still available for the local Monterey Bay area Boy Scout national jamboree quota and these must be filled immediately; if they are not, the unfilled portion will be assigned to another scout council, it was emphatically emphasized today by scout officials. The national jamboree will be held at Valley Forge, Pa., June 30-July 6. Local scouts will camp there for a week along with 50,000 others from all parts of the country and some foreign lands. In addition, the Monterey bay area contingent will visit famous historical places, such as Grand Canyon, Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, New York City, Niagara Falls, Detroit, St. Paul and Glacier National Park.

Local delegation of scouts consists of one from peninsula district; two from Salinas-Alisal; 11 from Gabilan (Chualar to King City); eight from San Benito; five from Pajaro Valley; 19 from Santa Cruz, and seven adult leaders, total 53. If the 11 vacancies are filled, the group will total 64. Adult leaders are Fran Petersen, of Chualar; Jack Mann, Chualar; R. D. Sproull, Monterey; Alvin Marcheski, Hollister; Dr. Clinton Gurnee, Watsonville; Darrell Cardiff and Donald A. Bruce, Santa Cruz.

Parents interested should contact any of these leaders or the Boy Scouts of America, Salinas Nat. Bk. Bldg., Salinas. Prompt action is necessary if parents want their scout sons to have this educational and citizenship training opportunity.

RELATIONS COMMITTEE

Mel Huden, chairman of the Journalism Department at Monterey Peninsula College, was chosen to head the new Public Relations Committee of the college, President Calvin C. Flint announced this week. Representing the several departments of the college on the committee are Franklin Young, Richard Matteson, Tom Saake, Jim Tedwell and August Armanasco.

"The purpose of the committee," Mr. Flint stated, "is to coordinate all publicity activities and to plan for more effective presentation of the various aspects of college life."

CARMEL COUPLE TO CELEBRATE FIFTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY ON APRIL 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Miller, of Carmel, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary April 16, 1950. Father O'Connell, pastor of Carmel Mission, will officiate at 8 a.m. Mass. The couple was married April 15, 1900, in Old St. Mary's Church, San Francisco.

A reception to greet their many friends and relatives will be held at the Mission Ranch Banquet Hall from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Miller was the former Della Dwyer, of Tipperary, Ireland. The eighth child of 13 children, she came to San Francisco as a babe in arms in a sailing vessel from Ireland.

Mr. Miller, a native of Monterey, was born May 5, 1875. At 16 he was gardener at the Del Monte Hotel, and later engineer for 10 years. In 1910, he acquired a 40-acre farm at Gustine. Then Miller & Lux Co. induced him to take charge as superintendent of 720 acres in Dos Palos, Firebaugh and Newman. There he built an irrigation canal 17 miles long, and was the first to start the growing of rice and cotton in that area. Today it is one of the largest cotton and rice raising areas in California. He also raised cattle for market. For seven years he was in charge of 200 men, 70 to 90 of them prisoners from Folsom and San Quentin prisons. He takes pride in the fact that not one of these prisoners ever broke his parole and that all became good citizens.

He retired in 1928 to his 12-acre estate in Orinda. However, he was too active to lead a retired life, and took over the running of the Orinda school bus until 1944, when he moved to Carmel, never having lost his love for Monterey County. For the past six years he has been engineer at Pebble Beach Lodge. He retired in January of this year to enjoy his new home and garden on Monte Verde and 14th Streets.

The Millers have three children, Mrs. Albert Camille, of Berkeley, whose husband is a San Francisco art director; a granddaughter, Jacqueline Camille, who is attending Dominican Convent in San Rafael; Frederick Miller, of Pacific Grove, married, and employed at Holman's, and Edward A. Miller, of Walnut Creek, married and an employed, of the Pacific Telephone Company.

GROW OLD - BUT GRACEFULLY . . .

For most people, the critical period starts at 50. They are no longer young - and not yet old. Changes, similar to puberty, begin to manifest themselves, and there are both mental and physical adjustments to be made.

The secretory glands slow down, causing a lack of balance in the body's functions. Cardio-vascular troubles, headaches, and puffing and blowing, resulting from congestive troubles, are more frequent. Palpitations, indigestion and chronic constipation are all signs of aging. Often it is more difficult to get sound sleep and rest; thus the nerves suffer.

It is at this stage that many people are frightened into operations of the "exploratory" type - guaranteed to shorten their remaining life span.

Growing older need not be unpleasant, if we accept facts and things as we did when younger, and look forward to new experiences.

It can safely be said that chiropractic has more to offer than any other healing method. Pills, purges, and shots are not our method. We remove tension and imbalance from the nervous system, permitting the body to adapt and compensate for increasing age, eliminating discomfort and pain that you may enjoy life as time goes on.
